

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A nail puller comprises a base plate and a lever arm attached to the base plate. A pair of replaceable toothed gripping jaws are attached to the base plate and the lever arm respectively, the teeth being aligned so that the teeth pull a nail by its shank, rather than by its head, when force is applied to the lever.